

The Buck Stops Here

From my heart and the conscious coalface reality of Australian citizens I write these meaningful and passionate words down before time runs out on our current health system.

It's time to stop the destruction of our failing health system.

Where does the buck stop?

It stops at Pambula District Hospital for the survival of our health system for Australia, particularly Australian Rural Women with maternity services suffering so badly at the hands of a self-serving bureaucratic system.

Undoubtedly the consequences of "The Buck Stops Here" message will encourage all Australians, no matter what State or Territory of origin, to demonstrate publicly their true feelings about what has happened over time with our precious Australian health system.

Through the mindless influences and dictations of different political parties Aussies have personally witnessed the continuing erosion of a once world standard health system built up by our forebears.

At the coalface ordinary Australians are no longer prepared to sit back quietly on the issue of failing health.

"Enough is Enough"

Let the bushfire spread from the seriously affected rural areas into the resurrection of a better health system for Metropolitan areas that are suffering worse than ever.

Are you listening Australia? Our health cannot wait.

It is the basic human right of all Australians to expect adequate health delivery services no matter who you are or where you live across our great land of Australia. It is our right and the right of our future generations to expect decency and support in living our lives as normal human beings.

As an ordinary Aussie bloke I urge the National Media to continue the public momentum that has sprung up so strongly from the health service delivery consequences at our local rural hospital at Pambula in New South Wales and take it on board for the rest of Australia.

Australian communities are not being listened to and are truly suffering at the hands of ill-advised decision making.

Let's bring back hospital boards for our individual hospitals across Australia!

Let's manage our own health welfare for the better.

God help us before the politicians and the entrenched bureaucrats totally self destruct our precious Australian health system with the end result costing precious human Aussie lives that we cannot replace.

It maybe someone that touches your life.

If you are concerned over our degraded Australian health system , no matter whether you live in Australia or overseas , please contact the website , www.savepambulahospital.com.